URGES RUNCIMAN CHIEF SUDETEN PEACE MAKE

British Mediator Striving To Pacify Rival Factions

BRITAIN FACES NECESSITY OF PREPARING FOR SUDDEN WAR

Prague, Aug. 29.

It is revealed that Lord Runciman has warned the Sudeten leader, Herr Konrad Henlein, that Europe is on the brink of war.

Herr Henlein has been advised by Lord Runciman that he should immediately agree to Prague's concessions in order to preserve peace.

At a meeting held on Sunday at a chateau near the German frontier, Lord Runciman warned Herr Henlein that it was necessary for the Sudetens to accept the concessions offered by the Czech Government, no matter how grave their doubts

Fresh fears have been aroused by a speech at Berhopetival by Herr Karl were.

"There have recently been important discussions," he declared. "We have decided that we cannot relinquish any of the rights which God has given us, and we will struggle with all the will in our power to attain our goal."—United Press.

MAY FACE WAR DECISION SOON

London, Aug. 29.

It is learned that the British Ambassador to Berlin, Sir Neville Henderson, arrived in London by aeroplane in secret on Saturday. His arrival was kept secret even from the airport officials.

Last night it was announced that Sir Neville and key members of the Cabinet would attend a meeting called by the Prime Minister on Tuesday. It is understood this meeting will discuss the question of preparing the fighting forces of Britain against any emergency, as well as planning new diplomatic moves.

LEADS TO

COLLISION

Henlein Allegedly

Insulted

It is believed the Tuesday session indicates Britain is preparing to bluntly and directly warn Herr Adolf Hitler against precipitating war in Europe.

Apparently Sir John Simon's speech on Saturday was merely a preface to Britain's course. It may be necessary for Britain to decide to throw her full diplomatic and military strength into the scale of the present major crisis and she may have to decide to face war within ten days.

The Foreign Office has indicated that it is dissatisfied with the result of the polite reminders to Herr Hitler not to bring pressure to bear on Ezecho-Slovakia, and there is some speculation as to whother Sir Neville Henderson will return to Berlin carrying a strong message.

Apprehension Heightened British apprehension has been heightened by the fact that nearly 1,500,000 Germans will be on a | prtime footing by September 5, the date on which the Nazi Congress ut Nuremberg will be convened.

A meeting of Ministers which the Prime Minister is summoning at No. 10, Downing Street on Tuesday morning, it is understood, will consider the latest development in the Czech-Sudeten dispute.

The meeting may decide whether any further diplomatic moves in Prague and Berlin will prove useful, and also whether any precautionary measures shoud be taken in England.

It seems probable that unless the position improves the full Cabinet will meet early in September.

THREE COLUMNS CHECKED

Chinese Outnumber Invaders, Despite Massing Of Power

Nanchang, Aug. 29. All attempts by the Japanese forces to break through the Chinese defences northwest of Juichang and blast their way towards Matow on the Yangtse bank, opposite Wusueh, ended in failure yesterday.

Heavy fighting continued to rage yesterday morning and afternoon as three columns fought north-west of Juichang, one along the river bank, the other on the Juichang-Matow and Juichang-Yangsing highway, and the third along the Juichang-

Wuning highway. The tactics of the Japanese seem to be to storm along the highways leading from Juichang to Yangsing and Matow, forcing the defenders to retreat westward, and thus cutting a way to Matow. But repeated setbacks have been administered to the attackers at Candles Point, Tashanshan and Langklungshan during the past few days. Both sides have been massing troops in these districts, with the Chinese greatly outnumbering the Japanese. The invading army has -found-great-difficulty in transporting supplies and provisions along the narrow footpaths of the hilly regions

Esperanto as a means to world brotherhood was the keynote of meetings when the World Congress of Esperantists continued at University College, London. Sixteen hundred delegates from various parts of the world travelled to London for the congress but Germany was not represented. Germans are not allowed to learn Esperanto since Hitler discovered that it was invented by a Jew. The Quaker Esperantist Group of Great Britain were among those who brought speakers to address the Congress on international problems.

Mr. C. R. Buxton, president of the Quaker Esperantist Group, appealed for more tareful understanding of the world situation. "The great fact of our time," he said, "is that the whole of humanity is bound together as never before. "We feel that the world is one. Nevertheless, national consciousness is still far too strong. "All problems of economic development should be studied from the world point of view. The man who loses his job in Poland is entitled to as much sympathy as the man who

'Wreckers' Ruined Last Census In Russia

NEW census of the entire Soviet population is to be taken next January. The results of that taken in January, 1937, did not satisfy the authorities, who have never published them.

January, 1933. The population was then given as 165,847,100.

It is declared that the Central Statistical Bureau was last year in the hands of a "gang of wreckers' headed by Prof. Kraval, who not only falsified the actual count but even introduced "wrecking" principles in drawing up a list of questions to be asked of all citizens to establish their nationality and

DISCLOSURE OF RACE

In the next census according to the Daily Telegraph Moscow correspondent, they will be compelled, as in all Russian censuses before 1937, to disclose their race by birth and their native language.

Again, in the census of 1937 all citizens were invited to declare their "religion." A surprisingly large number seem to have declared themselves to be "Russian Orthodox" under the misapprehension, based on the traditional habit of mind of the old regime, that all "Great Russians" proper and all Ukrainians belonged

REPEAL OF LAW

Another interesting point about the 1937 census is that Kravai and his fellow "wreckers" in the Central Statistical Bureau seem to have made a grossly exaggerated estimate of the population in 1934 because they failed to take into account the wastage of population during the hungry years. By next year, however, the full effects of the repeal in 1936 of the law permitting free abortions and imposed on those practising suchoperations will have become evident in a great increase in, births and therefore in the population. These will counter-balance the. losses in earlier years in the grand total, although, of course, there will be a higher proportion, of infants to men of fighting age.

An urgent military despatch from the front received here at eleven o'clock last night reports the recapture by Chinese vanguards of the walled town of Susung, in south-west Anhwei, on the Hupeh border, at 5.30 p.m.

Susung is approximately ten kilometres north-east of Hwangmei, and 30 kilometres and 75 kilometres respectively north-west of Taihu and Tsienshan. Both these points the Chinese regained on August 27.

The Japanese garrison at Susung, according to the report, offered feeble resistance to the Chinese attack and suffered heavy losses. The bulk of the Japanese force was scattered and retreated towards Wankiang and Anking.

Great significance is attached to the recapture of Susung by military observers as it cuts off the retreat of the spearhead of the Japanese advance at Hwangmei and blocks the transportation of supplies and provisions along the NUDE DANCER Susung-Hwangmei highway.—Central News.

The Japanese abandonment of Tsokiakino is believed to be the result of constant attacks by Chinese forces on various points along the Shanghai-Chuansha line, which made the postthe line, untenable.

The Indians fully deserved their victory, being by far the better allround rink. Their three front men, Hoosen, Khan and A. R. Minu, completely outplayed Wahab, Bakar and Abbas, and left their skip with little to do. On the other hand, Dallah received so little support that he found himself up against it on the majority of the heads.

MALAYS RECOVER

The green was a trifle heavy after the morning rain. The Indians settled down to it much better than the Malays, and at one stage of the encounter were actually leading by 14-5. They blanked the Malays on HARDCOURT six short heads, during which time they piled on 12 shots. Then Hoosen TOURNEY full heads the Malays scored nine to again and when the last head was COMMENCES played, they were leading by 20-15.

The standard of play was not very high but there were some good heads. The Indians scored on the majority of the short heads and the Malays on the long ones.

As already stated, the three Indian front men, Hoosen, Khan and A. R. Minu, played very well indeed. | ganlsed by the United Services R.C. If they produce the same form when at King's Park. The tournament they meet Portugal, India will have an even chance of getting through, strong though the Portuguese rink seems to be on paper.

What has happened to Max Schmeling since his sensational defeat by Joe Louis in June? Little has been heard of him lately. Here he is seen with Gene Tunney, former champion, at his training camp preparing for his world title bout with the negro. Tunney was of the opinion that Schmeling's right was the best in the world, but after seeing Louis' prowess he may have revised his opinion.

The nine selections so far show that we mean business, and the question, now is, who will be the bowlers, the bowlers of England? So far, Kenneth Farnes is the only regular, right down bowler asked to make the trip.

Dick Pollard (Lancashire) or Frank Smalles (Yorkshire) might cannot think of a left-hander, unless it be the ever popping up Hedicy Verity. And Yorkshire have a way of not wanting their cricketers to play summer and winter.

TOOMANY DOCTORS

Difficulties of Making Ends Meet

By The Scottish Branch Secretary of the Medical Practitioners' Union

THE announcement that the British Medical Association gave the question of allowing alien doctors to set up practice in this country a prominent place in the proceedings at its annual meeting, and that the Medical Practitioners' Union is prepared to organise a strike of the profession if the Government persists in its proposals to admit refugee Austrian medical men coming here for that purpose, has created a great deal of public curlosity as to what is behind the excitement which has been stirred up in the medical

The man in the street cannot understand why the idea of a few Continental doctors trying to make a living for themselves in "The Re-Refugees' Paradise" should have got the medical men of this country on the raw, and be rousing them to contemplate measures of so drastic a kind.

Let it be stated clearly and emphatically that neither race, nationality, nor religion comes into the matter at all. The profession has no quarrel with its Continental colleagues who have been, and are being, hounded out of their own land. On the contrary, it has the deepest sympathy with them. The position taken up by the doctors of Great Britain is one that is forced upon them purely by economic conditions, the existing over-crowded state of the profession, and the difficulty which medical men in this country are finding in making their budgets balance.

Wrong Ideas

The public has always had very inflated ideas regarding the financial prosperity of its medical advisers. Because, in the old days, a doctor went his rounds in a carriage-andpair, or, keeping up with the times, now drives his own ear, it is and always has been taken for granted that he is well blessed with worldly means. Hints to the effect that he is not so well off as people imagine are received with a smile and an envious "I'd give a good bit for a page of your bank-book!"

If the attitude of the medical profession towards the Austrian, invasion is to be understood, a few cherished misconceptions about doctors' bank balances will have to go by the board.

During the first two decades of the present century the number of additional names on the Medical Register at the end of each year averaged about 400. This does not mean that only 400 men had graduated during the preceding twelve months. In course of the year many of the older practitioners had died. The vacancies on the register created by these deaths had to be filled by names of new graduntes, in order to bring the numbers on the register up to those at the end of the previous year, before any of the additional 400 names began to be counted.

The 400 average does not merely mean that at the end of each year there were 400 new names on the register, but that there were now on it 400 names over and above the number at the date of the previous

Dwindling Practice

Throughout the next decade the yearly addition averaged 1000 names. more than were on the register on the previous December 31. Though, lately, the numbers are down, they are still more than double the pre-War figure.

But, while the number of doctors has increased since the War, the opportunities of work for each, both old and new, have steadily been becoming less and less.

When State Insurance came into force panel practitioners, though they might be receiving only seven shillings a year for attention to the insured head of the house, were drawing a further seven shillings, or twenty-one shillings, and often more, for attending to the medical requirements of that insured person's wife and the juntor members of his family.

Fear of the next war in which poison gas is expected to play a ruthless role grips all European nations and precautions are taken everywhere to combat it. This is a scene in London as a guard, presumably wounded, is removed from a guardroom, set afire by an incendiary bomb, during a gas and air raid demonstration. The soldiers are members of the Grenadier Guards and the Coldstream Guards, at Wellington Barracks.

Three American midshipmen from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis so into a huddle, as they land at liavre, France, to determine which way they'll go. They were among 500 middles on a training cruise on the battleships New York, Texas and Wyoming and had just received shore leave. It's safe to wager they eventually got to Paris.

Russia's might in men and steel was displayed to the world, recently. Famed cavalry unit of the Red Army are the Cossacks, inhabitants of the lower Don and Dnieper valleys, whose horsemanship has for generations been widely heralded. Here is a Cossack in action at the recent military meet, with horse trained to shield his rider.

More than 10,000 British spinsters were estimated to have flocked to London to support Miss Florence White in her campaign for pensions for spinsters, when they reach 55 years of age. Above, she examines placards carried in a parade to Hyde Park.

The De Havilland Aircraft Company, in a statement, said the Albatross was undergoing tests of an exceptionally severe nature and was loaded up to 3,000 lbs more than the maximum weight at which it would ever be permitted to land and was carrying lead and ballast representing nearly double the maximum permitted pay load. The failure was thoroughly understood and was of a relatively simple character. The matter was being immediately remedled in the production of aircraft.-Reuter.

FOREIGN OFFICE AWAITS REACTION FURTHER

London, Aug. 28. A meeting of Ministers which the Prime

It seems probable that unless the position improves the full Cabinet will meet early in September.

CATHOLICS DENOUNCE GERMANY'S CAMPAIGN

Aims To Annihilate Christianity ...

Berlin, Aug. 28. The anti-Catholic campaign in Germany was denounced in a pastoral letter read to-day in all Catholic churches in Germany

The anti-Catholic campaign, says the letter, aims at paralysing the Church and annihilating Christianity by introducing a new faith: which has nothing in common with the belief in future life.

"CURSE OF BABEL" RETARDS WORLD PEACE

Esperanto as a means to world brotherhood was the keynote of meetings when the World Congress of Esperantists continued at Univer-sity College, London.

Sixteen hundred delegates from various parts of the world travelled to London for the congress but Germany was not represented.

Germans are not allowed to learn Esperanto since Hitler discovered that it was invented by a Jew.
The Quaker Esperantist Group of Great Britain were among those who brought speakers to address the Congress on international problems, Mr. C. R. Buxton, president of the Quaker Esperantist Group, appealed for more careful understanding of the world situation.

"The great fact of our time," he said, "is that the whole of humanity is bound together as never before, "We feel that the world is one. Nevertheless, national consciousness is still far too strong.

"All problems of economic development should be studied from the world point of view. The man who loses his job in Poland is entitled to as much sympathy as the man who loses his job in London.

"The statesman who preaches or practises economic nationalism should be regarded as a traitor within the camp. "If we are truly desirous of being loyal to humanity at large we shall feel deeply the curse of Babel. "A friend in Czechoslovakia wrote to me in the recent crisis that the inability to understand one another's language was the greatest evil, intensifying all other evils."

'Wreckers' Ruined Last Census In Russia

NEW census of the entire Soviet population is to be taken next January. The results of that taken in January, 1937, did not satisfy the authorities, who have never published them.

The last one published was in [by race to that communion, just as January, 1933. The population was then given as 165,847,100.

It is declared that the Central Statistical Bureau was last year in the hands of a "gang of wreckers' headed by Prof. Kraval, who not only falsified the actual count but even introduced "wrecking" principles in drawing up a list of questions. to be asked of all citizens to establish their nationality and

The people were allowed, for example, to state to what "National culture" they claimed to belong instead of declaring their race by birth. Thus a Jew or a Soviet Pole might chim to be a "Great Russian" or a Ukrainian.

DISCLOSURE OF RACE

In the next census according to the Daily Telegraph Moscow correspondent, they will be compelled, as in all Russian censuses before 1937, to disclose their race by birth and their nativo-language.

Again, in the census of 1937 all citizens were invited to declare their "religion." A surprisingly large number seem to have declared them-selves to be "Russian Orthodox" under the misapprehension, based on the traditional habit of mind of the old regime, that all "Great-Russians". proper and all Ukrainians belonged German Russlans were necessarily Lutheran, Calvinist or Mennonite and Polish Russians were necessarily Roman Catholic.

Next time only those professionally employed as priests will be compelled to declare their religious convictions.

REPEAL OF LAW

Another interesting point about the 1937 census is that Kraval and his fellow "wreckers" in the Central Statistical Bureau seem to have made a grossly exaggerated estimate of the population in 1934 because they failed to take into account the wastage of population during the hungry years.

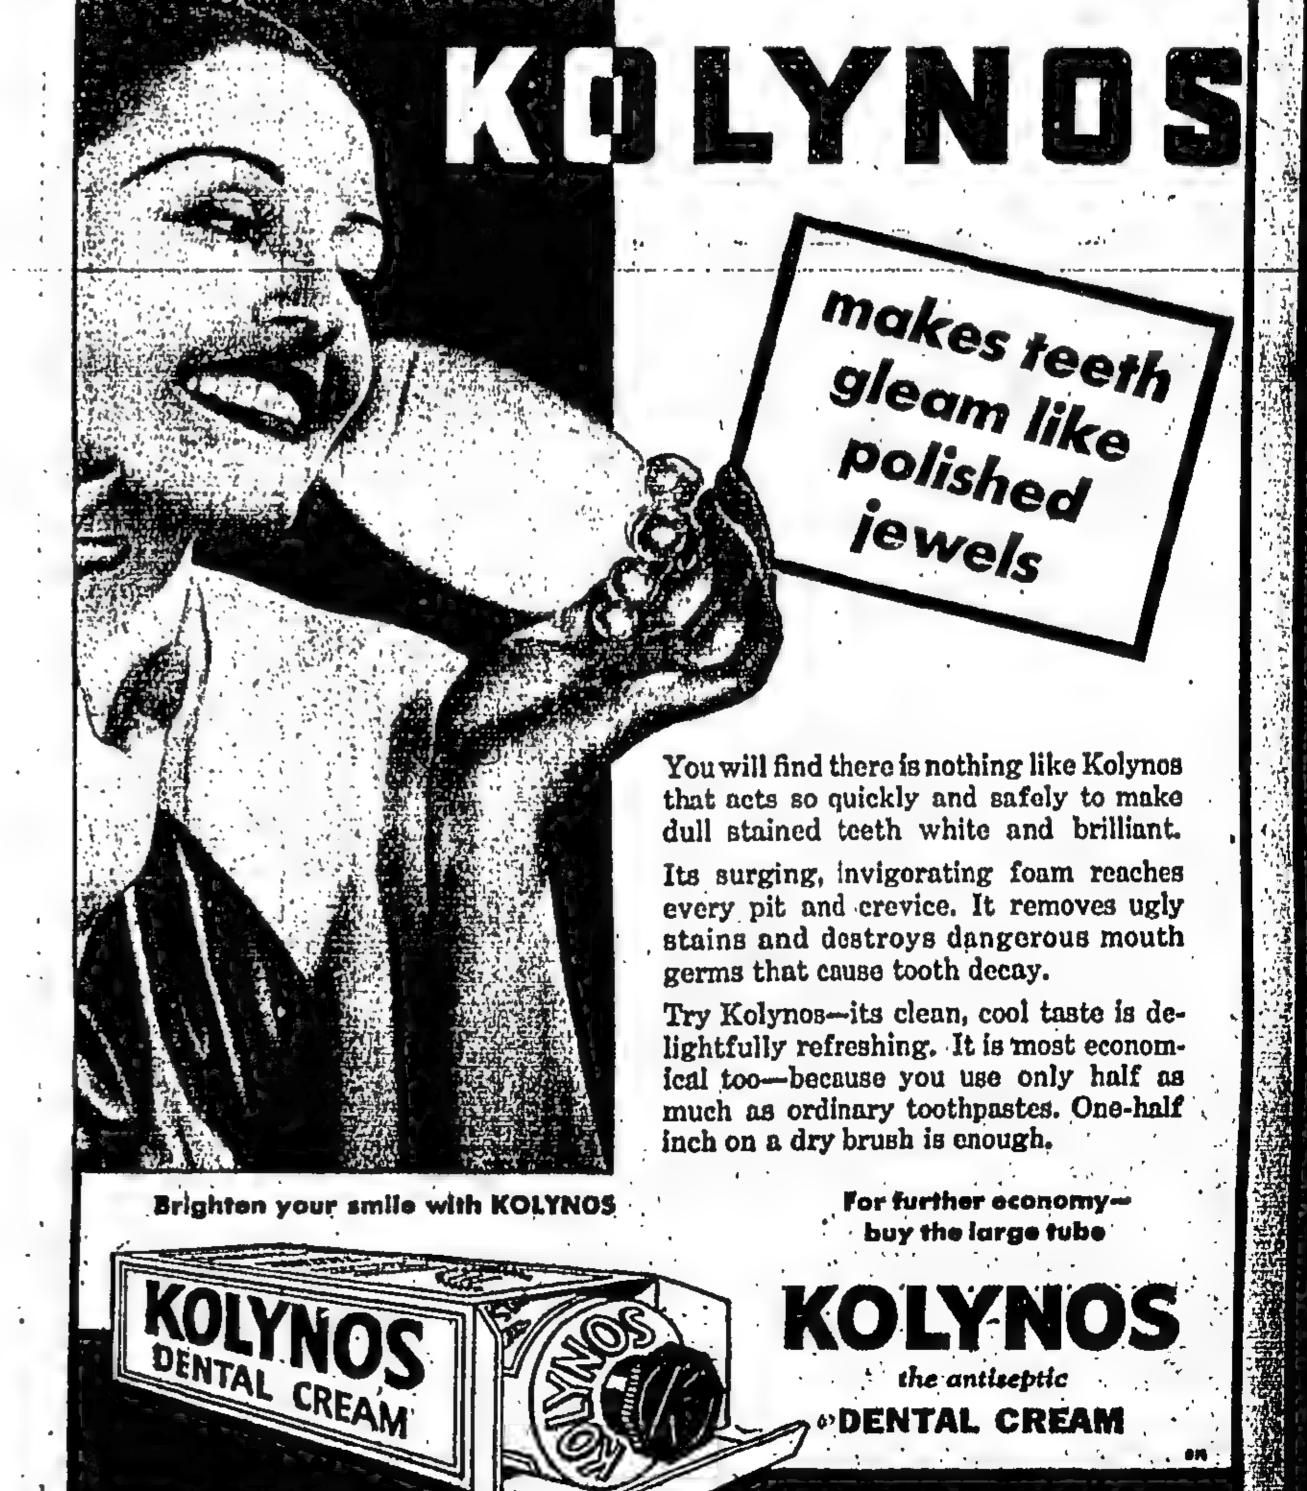

By next year, however, the full effects of the repeal in 1936 of the law permitting free abortions and the severe penalties which were thenimposed on those practising such operations will have become evident in a great increase in births and therefore in the population.

These will counter-balance the losses in earlier years in the grand total, although, of course, there will be a higher proportion of infants to men of fighting age.

SATISFIED

Parls, Aug. 27. First impressions in Government circles of Sir John Simon's speech, after a necessarily incomplete study, is that it is not up to the expectait contained "nothing sensational."

"Sir John Simon said just what we expected, which is far' less than we, had hoped," declared a high French official, "However, the rewill, we think, have a deterrent effect on those who might be tempted to forget it. The French policy in Czecho-Slovakia cannot change and we remain as vigilant as ever." -Reuter.

COMPLETELY SATISFYING

Paris, Aug. 27. Authoritative circles consider that the British Government has again brought her influence to bear on the question of Czecho-Slovakia and in the cause of peace.

Sir John Simon's speech is warmly welcomed and is regarded as completely satisfying. It follows the lines generally foreseen and had been previously communicated to the French Government.-Reuter.

ITALIAN OPINION

Rome, Aug. 27. Sir John Simon's statement on Czecho-Slovakia has been received with satisfaction here as heralding no fresh step out of keeping with "Great Britain's traditional dislike for committing herself in advance." It is felt that a new British commitment might have had the effect of hardening the Czech attitude, thus bringing war a step nearer. The British desire to see a peaceful solution to the problem is echoed here although there is considerable pessimism regarding the outcome of Lord Runciman's mission.—Reuter.

INDIA ENTERS 2ND ROUND OF GUTIERREZ SHIELD

FRONT PLAYERS IN FINE FORM AGAINSTMALAYS

DALLAH'S BRILLIANCE UNAVAILING IN BOWLS INTERNATIONAL TIE

India (J. Hoosen, D. M. Khan, A. R. Minu and A. K. Minu) entered the second round of the Gutierrez Shield International bowls competition by beating Malaya (A. M. Wahab, A. Bakar, M. R. Abbas and A. R. Dallah) yesterday by 20-16 on the Hongkong F. C. Green. They will now meet Portugal, the winners to enter the semi-final.

The Indians fully deserved their victory, being by far the better allround rink. Their three front men, Hoosen, Khan and A. R. Minu, completely outplayed Wahab, Bakar and Abbas, and left their skip with little to do. On the other hand, Dallah received so little support that he found himself up against it on the majority of the heads.

was brilliant. But for him, the heavier defeat. Time and again when the "lie" was against him, he either carried the jack or drew the shot. With a little better support has never played a worse game in his life, Dallah might have carried the Malays through.

MALAYS RECOVER

The green was a trifle heavy after the morning rain. The Indians settled down to it much better than the Malays, and at one stage of the encounter were actually leading by 14-5. They blanked the Malays on HARDCOURT six short heads, during which time they piled on 12 shots. Then Hoosen TOURNEY full heads the Malays scored nine to draw level. The Indians ran off again and when the last head was played, they were leading by 20-15.

The standard of play was not very high but there were some good heads. The Indians scored on the majority of the short heads, and the Malays on the long ones.

As already stated, the three Indian front men, Hoosen, Khan and hardcourt tennis championships or-A. R. Minu, played very well indeed, ganised by the United Services R.C. If they produce the same form when at King's Park. The tournament they meet Portugal, India will have commences this afternoon, an even chance of getting through, strong though the Portuguese rink seems to be on paper.

LAST OF THE QUARTER-FINAL

The last of the quarter-final Dallah, who seems to be playing matches in the Lawn Bowls singles on top of his form at the moment, championship of the Colony will be decided to-day, weather permitting, Malays would certainly have had a on the Kowloon B.G.C. green between L. F. Kavier and J. V. Ramsay. The match should have been played last week, but Xavier was indisposed.

Both men play regularly as No. from his No. 3, Abbas, who probably for their respective clubs, and both are extremely steady. The tie promises to be more than ordinarily interesting and some good heads should be seen.

The winner will meet J. A. da Luz in the semi-finals on Thursday on the Civil Service C.C. green.

What has happened to Max Schmeling since his sensational defeat by Joe Louis in June? Little has been heard of him lately. Tunney was of the opinion that Schmeling's right was the best in the world, but after seeing Louis' prowess he may have revised his opinion.

LAIDLAW THE NEW ASSISTANTS' GOLF CHAMPION

William Laidlaw, 26-year-old Scottish international, who is on Henry Cotton's staff at Ashridge, won the Assistant Golf Professionals' Championship over the North Shore course at Blackpool of Suen Kam-shuen, who is now not with an aggregate for the 72 holes of 289. DUNCAN SHINES

Duncan, the Scots' goal-keeper, things. deserves special praise for his fine work throughout the whole encounter. Though he let through six goals, he could not be blamed for any of them; in fact it can be said that but for him Eastern would have registered more than six.

Always an uncertain quantity last season, the Eastern attack has found a steadying influence in the presence so much a dashing cenre-forward as he used to be. Rather, he is more of an attacking centre-half these days. Though showing none of the speed for which he was formerly wellknown, Suen proved that his ball control and distribution are still as good as ever. THE BOWLERS

The nine selections so far show that we mean business, and the question, now is, who will be the bowlers, the bowlers of England? So far. Kenneth Farnes is the only regular, right down bowler asked to make the trip.

As I wrote in the Daily Express yesterday, I suggest Douglas Wright (Kent), Peter Smith (Essex) and Reggie Perks (Worcestershire) as three of them.

LAND SPEED RECORD SMASHED

Capt. Eyston Establishes New World Record

Benneville Salt Flats, Aug. 27. Captain George Eyston, the famous British racing driver, driving his Thunderbolt, established a new world's land speed record to-day by averaging 345.40 miles an hour, covering the measured mile in 10.42

On his northward trip, Captain Eyston averaged 347.49 m.p.h., covering the mile in 10.36 seconds, and on the southward run averaged 345.51 m.p.h., completing the mile in 10,48 seconds. The previous mile record was 311.42 m.p.h.

Eyston's speed for the kilometre averaged 345.21 m.p.h., in 0.48 seconds. On the northward run he averaged 346.81 m.p.h. in 6.45 seconds, and on the southward run 344.15 m.p.h. in 6.50 seconds. The former record for the kilometre was 312.00 m.p.h.

Eyston was accorded a grand re-ception at the timing stand, hundreds clambering over each other in efforts to shake his hand. "I was never in difficulties during the runs" he said. "and am tremendously pleased at breaking the record because it represents a notable advance technically. Now that we are learning more about the car, we are finding each outing more interesting and productive of useful information." Capt. Eyston added that he never had the throttle full out and that the Thunderbolt was capable of even greater speeds.

The car shot through the measured mile like an arrow, leaving showers of salt spray in its wake, Capt. Eyston may make further attempts to increase the record later,-Reuter.

United Press adds that the timing machinery functioned perfectly.

After an official correction, the return run was 343.48 m.p.h. Capt.

Eyston said that it was intentionally slower than Wednesday's run when the timing apparatus failed, and when it was estimated that he travelled at 360 m.p.h.

BOXING FEUD NOW AT AN END

New York, Aug. 27. Ending one of the biggest feuds of all games, the Madison Square Garden management committee have signed a partnership contract with Mike Jacobs, the boxing promoter. This is the first such contract since the days of Tex Richard, the pro-moter who arranged the million dollar fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

Colonel J. R. Kilpatrick, the President, announced that the contract was for four years, under which the Garden would receive a percentage of all the profits accruing from Jacobs' bouts regardless of whether they were arranged in the city of New York. Jacobs is to have the exclusive boxing privileges of the Garden and the Garden Bowl.

This contract elevates Jacobs to Richard's throne, but Jacobs has the greater power owing to his being independent and being able to arrange his own finances for his fights. In the event of there being no profits, the Garden gets nothing .-United Press.

TOO MANY DOCTORS

Difficulties of Making Ends Meet

By The Scottish Branch Secretary of the Medical Practitioners' Union

THE announcement that the British Medical Association gave the question of allowing allen doctors to set up practice in this country a prominent place in the proceedings at its annual meeting, and that the Medical Practitioners' Union is prepared to organise a strike of the profession if the Government persists in its proposals to admit refugee Austrian medical men coming here for that purpose, has created a great deal of public curlosity as to what is behind the excitement which has been stirred up in the medical camp.

The man in the street cannot understand why the idea of a few Continental doctors trying to make a living for themselves in "The Re-Refugees' Paradise" should have got the medical men of this country on the raw, and be rousing them to contemplate measures of so drastie a kind.

Let It be stated clearly and emphatically that neither race, nationality, nor religion comes into the matter at all. The profession has no quarrel with its Continental colleagues who have been, and are being, hounded out of their own land. On the contrary, it has the deepestsympathy with them. The position taken up by the doctors of Great Britain is one that is forced upon them purely by economic conditions, the existing over-crowded state of the profession, and the difficulty which medical men in this country, are finding in making their budgets balance.

Wrong Ideas

The public has always had very inflated ideas regarding the financial prosperity of its medical advisers. Because, in the old days, a doctor went his rounds in a carriage-andpair, or, keeping up with the times, now drives his own car, it is and always has been taken for granted that he is well blessed with worldly means. Hints to the effect that he is not so well off as people imagine are received with a smile and an envious. "I'd give a good bit for a page of your bank-book!"

If the attitude of the medical profession towards the Austrian invasion is to be understood, a few cherished misconceptions about doctors' bank balances will have to go by the board.

During the first two decades of the present century the number of additional names on the Medical Register at the end of each year averaged about 400. This does not mean that only 400 men had graduated during, the preceding twelve months. In course of the year many of the older practitioners had died. The vacancles on the register created by these deaths had to be filled by names of new graduates, in order to bring the numbers on the register up to those at the end of the previous year, before any of the additional 400 names began to be counted.

The 400 average does not merely mean that at the end of each year there were 400 new names on the register, but that there were now on it 400 names over and above the number at the date of the previous count.

Dwindling Practice

Throughout the next decade the yearly addition averaged 1000 names more than were on the register on the previous December 31. Though, lately, the numbers are down, they are still more than double the pre-War figure.

But, while the number of doctors has increased since the War, the opportunities of work for each, both old and new, have steadily been becoming less and less.

When State Insurance came into force panel practitioners, though they might be receiving only seven shillings a year for attention to the insured head of the house, were drawing a further seven shillings, or twenty-one shillings, and often more, for attending to the medical requirements of that insured person's wife and the junior members of his family.

Since then, however, rate-maintained clinics for infants, school shrunk to such insignificant proporchildren, T.B. cases, mothers-to-be tions that his panel fees are practicand mothers-that-are, &c. &c., have ally the whole of the average general sprung up in all directions, and practitioner's professional income. taken what were the most remunerative parts of his private practice Operdrafts at the Bank out of the panel doctor's hands.

Funny, every bottle had always seemed to be the last when the shrapnel was flying. Then, with the armistice there had seemed to be a million ahead. He had never had any fun in his life. It had been from kindergarten to front lines. He had made a godlike. He could be anything, even the right age, for her. "Well," her smile was slow and apgirl he mot. Erich glanced at the others as the car spod down the highway. There was a similarity in the faces of Koster and Lenz that he had never noticed before. He groped for the word. Pride, that was it. The pride of men who florcely believe in peace and the future of a civilized world.

On Tuesday evening, he rang the bell and held his breath. A pompous major-domo opened the door to him, escorting him past great faded reception rooms to the rear of the house.

Pat herself opened the door of her tiny salon and her smile was like a brightly burning candle. Fluttering her slim fingers she laughed, "Oh dear, Ludwig will bring people to this door."
